

Commercial is the better option

Considering a consumer television instead of a Philips commercial television? Unless the consumer television can provide these essential features you should strongly reconsider your choice.

- Pro:Idiom® required for HD premium channel packages from hospitality content providers
- MPEG-4 required for HD premium channel packages if content is provided by a satellite vendor
- 180 degree swivel stand with 30/60/90 degree stop points, including surface mount locking plate and hardware
- Two-year advanced exchange warranty to minimize guest room downtime
- Ability to limit guest's access to feature menus
- Volume limitation
- Welcome channel
- Ability to label channels with text and logos
- HALT testing
- Built-in surge protection
- Commercial grade components
- Flame retardant materials
- SmartClone for easy programming of settings - in room via USB or over the RF system with optional Philips Smart Gateway

Philips offers best in class commercial grade warranty for our hospitality televisions, and the backing of a commercial organization that understands your needs as a business owner. Your business never closes and neither do we with our 24/7 live customer support (USA-based).
